Terms & Conditions

- All materials distributed on this course will remain the intellectual property of Dave Hewett. Participants and their organisations will be expected to sign a contract agreeing not to use nor share the materials with third parties.
- The course is not designed to prepare nor qualify the participant to give training in Intensive Interaction to colleagues, nor does it entitle either the participant, nor their organisation, the right to offer Intensive Interaction services to fee-paying audiences.
- One invoice will be sent, regardless of whether your place will be dual funded. By signing the terms and conditions you will be liable to ensure the invoice is paid on time. Failure to do so may affect your attendance on the course
- Any cancellation of a place must be received in writing at least 4 weeks prior to the start date. Failure to do so will result in 100% of the fee being payable.
- Once an application form has been received, it will be deemed that a place on the course has been secured and unless a letter of cancellation is received (as above) you will be liable for 100% of the fee regardless of non attendance or dropping out of the course before completion.
- Payment will be expected within 30 days from the date of the invoice unless otherwise agreed in writing with the Intensive Interaction Institute.
- All course fees must be paid before the course commences
- In the event of unforeseen circumstances, we reserve the right to cancel or alter parts of the course
- Successful completion of this course entails attending all three days of the course; where this is not possible you will be expected to give 48 hours' notice, or as soon as possible before the block commences.
- Delegates will be expected to complete assigned paperwork, i.e. observation sheets, contact notes, progress tracks etc. during normal working hours in the course of their workplace role.
- Delegates will also be expected to have access to and use of video equipment to film Intensive Interaction practice within their working environment. It is the responsibility of the organisation sending delegates to obtain all necessary consents for the use of video material on the course. Video material must be brought to the course in a suitable format for viewing on a DVD or memory stick, SD card.
- It will be necessary for delegates to bring video material, assigned paperwork and other course materials to each day. Failure to do so may result in a delegate being deemed to have not successfully completed the course.
- It is a stipulation of the course that attendees read materials between course days.
